

Nature's Own Wrapping Keeps Tobacco Best

No artificial package—tin, bag, or tin-foil and paper—can keep tobacco as well as the natural leaf wrapper that holds all the original flavor and moisture in the Sickle plug. When you whittle off a pipeful, you always get fresh tobacco, that burns slowly, and smokes cool and sweet.

Chopped-up, "package" tobacco loses much of its moisture before it goes into the package, and keeps getting drier all the time. And the drier it gets, the faster it burns in your pipe, and the more it bites your tongue. Only fresh tobacco gives real pipe-satisfaction—and only tobacco you cut off the Sickle plug as you use it, can be fresh.

Economical, too—no waste—no package to pay for—more tobacco. Get a Sickle plug from your dealer today.

Frances, little son of W. S. Dodge had quite a narrow escape Sunday while riding one of their horses. He escaped with slight injuries.

HORSES OF IORTHERN FRANKLIN COUNTY, MAINE

No. 3.

By S. W. Parlin.

The Blanchard horse by Perkins Young Morrill 2.31 and one at one time by Dana Austin, was kept for a time in Phillips and left some good stock, but none of his get made standard records. A son of the Blanchard horse owned by D. F. Harlow of Phillips and known as Young Morrill, Jr., was a handsome black stallion and also a good stock but got no standard performers. Dolbier's Ethan Aen, by a son of Ethan Allen 2.25 2 was a very trappy gaited attractive horse and bus for a kick from his dam which broke the bones of one of his shoulders when very young and caused his fee leg on that side to be shorter than the other, undoubtedly would have been a fast trotter. Some of his daughters produced speed.

The first standard bed stallion that stood in Phillips was Golddust Lambert 1162, whose sire was Jubilee Lambert 2.25, by Daniel Lambert 102, a son of the noted Ethan Allen 2.25 1-2, by Vermont Black Hawk 5. The dam of Golddust Lambert 1162 was Gentianella 2.35, by Dorsey's Golddust 150. Golddust Lambert 1162 left but few foals in this vicinity. He was bought by Peter Parsell and taken to Jerseyville, Ill., as was also a fast pacing colt, then one year old, bred by Charles E. Whitney then of this town. The only standard performer got by Golddust Lambert 1162 was Private Joe 2.29 1-4, bred in Illinois, but the pacing colt taken West got a record of 2.27.

The next standard bred stallion brought to Phillips was Allectus 3.794, by Alcantara 2.23, a son of George Wilkes 2.22; dam Iola (dam of Irene 2.23 1-4) by Administrator 2.29 1-2, whose sire was Hambletonian 10, and whose dam was by Mambrino Chief 11. Allectus 3794, second dam, was the famous Jessie Pepper (dam of Iona 2.17 1-2, Alpha 2.23 1-2, etc.) by Mambrino Chief 11 and his third dam was by Sidi Hamet, a thoroughbred son of Virginian by Sir Archy, the best son of imported Diomed. Allectus 3794 is credited with six standard performers, the fastest of which was Fred Wilkes, p. 2.12 1-4. Allectus 3794 was sold to a man on Long Island, New York.

Altus 2.25 1-4, another son of Alcantara 2.23, was brought to Phillips when two years old in 1887, but was sold the following winter and taken to New Jersey. The only foal he left in Franklin county was Altus, Jr., bred by N. P. Harris of Salem. Patchhunter 3263, a standard bred son of Volunteer Boy 1612, was a small but handsome, blood-like, standard bred, bay stallion that was brought to Phillips as a weanling in 1884. His dam was by Godfrey Patchen 32, a son of George M. Patchen 2.23 1-2 and the sire of Hopeful 2.14 3-4; second dam by New Hampshire Trustee, a son of the thoroughbred imported Trustee. Patchhunter 3263 was kept for a time at Rangeley by a Mr. Toohaker, a son of the late John R. Toohaker.

The attractive, reliable, bay, stripe-faced, mare, Nettie, kept for a let animal by the liveryman Norris J. Hackett, is a descendant of Patchhunter 3263. Nettie is 20 years old, but in harness does not look to be more than 10 or 12. Few liverymen in any section, city or country, keep a better class of let horses than those owned by Mr. Hackett and though Nettie has been used as a let horse for several years, yet there are but few 20 years old animals of the horse kind, even among those which are family pets, that are in as good condition as she.

Alclayone 2.20 1-4, a 15-3 hand, 1200 pound, standard bred son of Alcyone 2.27; dam Clayrene, by Sayre's Harry Clay 2.29; second dam by Volunteer 55, was brought to Phillips as a yearling in 1889 and was kept here for several years. He is credited with a greater number of standard performers than any other horse that has ever been owned in Franklin county. The fastest of his get are Louise G, p. (4) 2.08 1-2, Lelia Wilkes 2.14 1-2 and William H., p. 2.15 1-4. Louise G, p. (4) 2.08 1-2 trotted to a record of 2.21 in a race and also trotted to a half mile record, straight away, of 1.01 1-4, in the last heat of a four heat race that she won on the Charles River speedway near Boston.

Only a few of the get of Alclayone 2.20 1-4 are owned in the vicinity of Phillips now. One of them is the large, handsome stallion owned by Dexter Beedy. He is a good gaited trotter, a fine roadster and is leaving some excellent roadsters and all purpose animals. Mr. Hoyt the marble worker, of this village, owns a daughter of Mr. Beedy's horse that is a very fine roadster, and has a right to be, for if the writer understood Mr. Hoyt correctly her dam was by Sir Croix 2.14 3-4, and her second dam by Flying Eaton.

Tenerone 33792 race record 2.34 1-trotting, is now a gelding, but was kept several seasons for stock purposes. He was one of the best bred sons of Alclayone 2.20 1-4, was a remarkably true gaited, natural trotter, and his daughters that are from good dams should be valuable for brood purposes. The R. F. D. mail carrier, M. H. Davenport, has two valuable daughters of Tenerone 2.34 1-4 that he uses on his delivery route, both of which are expected to raise valuable foals this year by Lord Wilkes 45.200, a fast trotter and one of the best bred sons of Nelson's Wilkes 8571. The latter was a successful progenitor of speed, whose sire was the renowned Alcyone 2.27.

Mr. Harris of Salem, Me., owns a son of Alclayone 2.20 1-4, that is pronounced a very handsome stallion by men who are good judges of horse stock. Several attractive animals by him are kept in this village. Miss Elma Byron, daughter of Joel H. Byron, owns one of them, a well proportioned, handsome, smoothly turned, chestnut mare that weighed 1145 pounds a few days since and shows a very smooth, easy natural trotting action. Miss Bates, a music teacher, and also a teacher in the village school, owns a handsome chestnut mare that she uses both for riding to saddle and driving to carriage. She was by Mr. Harris' son of Alclayone 2.20 1-4; and another very handsome one by the same horse, is owned by Nat Wells.

Some of the good horses in this vicinity that show excellent trotting action are by Alclayone, Jr., a horse owned and kept at Strong, Me., several seasons by Dennis Soule. The dam of Alclayone, Jr., was the inbred Morgan, Golddust Lambert 1.162, mentioned above. Joel H. Byron, chairman of the board of selectmen of Phillips, has a remarkably well-proportioned 15-3 or more hand, 1250 pound gelding by Alclayone, Jr. that is a good gaited, strong moving trotter, and if he should get into a trainer's hands he is liable to show speed. Another chestnut gelding by the same sire is owned by the liveryman, Norris Hackett, and has been a let horse ever since he was four years old. He has never been in a trainer's hands but Mr. Hackett started him up a few times the past winter to sleigh and he acted like the making of a genuine trotter.

equine family left a strong, active, beautifully coated, dark bay colt foal at the stable of the Phillips liveryman, Norris Hackett, a few days ago. His father, Lord Wilkes, 45.200, is inbred to the best of the Wilkes strains, and the mother is a daughter of Van Belmont, 2.19 1-2, whose sire was Harbinger 1899, a son of Almont 33, and whose dam was by Gen. Knox 140; second dam by Garabaldi, a son of the Drew horse 114. The youngster has a tiny white spot in the forehead and one white hind foot. Judging from his inheritance he is liable to trot fast some day if trained.

ANGLING ON IRELAND'S FAMOUS RIVERS.

Ernest F. Gross of Brewer, one of the most enthusiastic of local sportsmen, has brought to this office some very interesting clippings from the Irish World, published at Dublin, Ireland, which give opportunity for contrasting, in a measure, the sport of catching Atlantic salmon, as at the pool above this city and in Ireland. The clipping which tells of the record salmon of the season, a noble fish of 42 pounds, gives every real angler a thrill, but the fact that this big fish was the only one of its class taken, shows that the big fish taken on this side are not so very far behind, in general. However, it would appear from the clippings that the fish taken run rather larger than do those taken, generally, in Maine's salmon rivers and larger at times than the famous fish of the Restigouche in Canada, where so many American anglers seek the acme of angling thrills. The clipping of the biggest salmon is as follows:

"P. M. Coats had also the distinction of capturing the heaviest fish on the Tay last year, one of 42 pounds on Oct. 12, at Upper Stob hall. He also secured the heaviest fish of the season in the autumn of 1913 in the same water with a 51 pounder. This was a feat of which he was particularly proud."

In a number of angling reports is noted: "The Moy, Loughs Conn and Cullen—At last the weather seems to have settled at fine. The river is clearing off and both rivers are lowering rapidly. Mr. Downs had first blood on Conn, killing a 13-pound salmon and some trout."

"The Shannon (Castleconnell—On Newgarden) Mr. H. V. Warrender killed three salmon, 21 1-2, 23 1-2 and 27 lbs. On the Worldsend G. P. Rimmer killed one salmon, 31 1-2 lbs. On Erinagh Lough, A. R. Paynter killed one salmon, 33 lbs. On Doonass F. Milburn killed four salmon 35, 35, 13 1-2 and 26 lbs. On Prospect E. H. Secker killed one salmon, 18 lbs. On Hermitage C. E. G. Crocker killed three salmon, 28, 31 and 18 lbs.; W. H. Radford killed one salmon, 25 1-2 lbs. On the 'Castle' fishery C. E. Browne killed one salmon 18 lbs. On Summerhill Col. Rutledge killed one salmon 18 lbs. The total number of salmon since Feb. 1 to March 26 was 88 weighing 2,293 lbs., an average of 26 lbs." Another report, elsewhere in the same paper, tells of the catching of 41 salmon taken in the same water during the week.

The ladies do some salmon catching over there, as one observes in the following: "On Tay (Upper Scone) the Duchess of Bedford had 13 fish, 188 1-2 lbs., on Wednesday week. Her Grace had another day the previous week of seven fish."

"Bacon tells us that the extreme age of the salmon is 10 years and, strange to say, he is quite right. A salmon of this great age, or very near it, has just been taken on the Wye, but was only some 30 lbs, or so in weight. It is, however, for all that, quite a historical fish, for it is the first fish in upwards of 4,000 which have been handled by Mr. Hutcn, the distinguished salmon investigator, which had spawned as often as three times."

But though there is wonderful salmon fishing in Ireland, the anglers and fish culturists, or protectors of the fisheries, have problems of danger to the fish to face, which almost remind one of those which are alleged to come from the pulp mills and other refuse discharges into the rivers of this country which were once "inhabited" by salmon. Read this: "Northumberland anglers are distressed by the news of the poisoning of the river Aln and a consequent large mortality among salmon and trout. On Sunday a goods train was wrecked near Ainsmouth station and a 600 gal. tank of creosote was damaged. The creosote has evidently percolated to the river Aln and along its course for two miles toward the sea hundreds of dead salmon and yellow trout have been found. Experts state that it will be four years before the river can be restored to the form it was in for angling."—Bangor Commercial.

CATS REAR BABY FOXES.

At Murphysboro, Ill., two mother cats are rearing eight baby foxes between them, one old cat is bringing up four young squirrels.

The old cat that is furnishing food and motherly care to the squirrels is at the home of James Snyder.

A farmer found the little squirrels in a tree he cut down and gave them to Snyder, who had a cat with young kittens. He took away four of the five young kittens and put the squirrels in their place. That was three weeks ago. The mother cat accepted the foster children and has taken as much care of them as she has of the remaining kitten. The little squirrels are fat and frisky and are very fond of their adopted mother and the kitten.

The little foxes were found by John L. Davis and George Bost, who are farmers, four miles north of Murphysboro. There were eight foxes and they were taken by Bost and Sherman Leichter, each of whom had an old cat with young kittens. They took away the kittens and placed the baby foxes with the cats. The tabbies have given the foxes all the motherly care and attention cats give to kittens, and the little fellows appear contented.

PROPHETS PREDICT BIG TRAP-SHOOTING SEASON.

Authorities on sporting subjects, who scan the trapshooting field much as the business man studies conditions in his trade, predict that 1913 will eclipse all previous years in interest, perhaps in records made, and certainly in the number of shooters competing at the various meets.

The investigators find that a healthy appreciation of the sport is spreading throughout the country. Stronger lists of tournaments than usual are scheduled, big shoots so far held have been well attended and the outlook is generally favorable.

The spirit of the year is well exemplified in the "500 shooters for the Grand American Handicap" announcement of the N. C. R. Gun club of Dayton, O. Although this plucky organization almost went down for the third time in the recent flood, it has made a magnificent rally, and all arrangements for the premier interstate gathering are to go through as originally planned. There should be 500 shooters at Dayton when the referee calls "Ready!"

A REWARD OF $15.00.

Now is the time for fishermen to get busy and capture a salmon in lake Sebasticook, says the Pittsfield Advertiser. The Newport Board of Trade has offered a reward of $5 for the first one caught in the lake and H. E. Turner, proprietor of the Turner House, also offers a $15 reward for the first fish. There are landlocked salmon in the lake, for several good sized ones were captured in the river below the upper bridge last summer and returned to the lake above the dam. Owing to the lack of a fishway at the upper dam the fish which pass under the gates or over the dam are unable to return to the lake and the presence of these fish last summer between the dam and fishway proved that salmon did exist in the waters of lake Sebasticook.

HAPPY DAYS AT BLAKESLEE

Everyboy Comes Hungry, but Nobody Ever Left Hungry, Says Joe.

We dried into camp just in time for one pleasant day last summer, my husband, myself, and a friend and her husband. To say we were hungry would only give you half an idea of how we felt. Joe, the genial host, whom we had met before and surely hope to see again, met us with a broad smile. He did not know how hungry we were, or perhaps his smile would not have been so broad, still on second thought, guess Joe would have smiled just the same, as he said, "everybody comes here hungry, but nobody ever left hungry," nor will they while Mr. and Mrs. Joe look after their wants.

Joe took us up into the camp on the hill, which is one of the nicest of the many nice camps. It has two separate bedrooms and a nice large sitting room with an open rock fireplace, and a dandy veranda overlooking the mountains to the east and the view down the famous Spencer valley. Before we got straightened around the dinner horn sounded. The dinner horn is the same old conkshell, which my husband figures out, had been calling the hungry to the table for the past 20 years and we were not long answering that cheerful sound.

In the main dining camp we met several nice people, whom we had met there years before and it was not long before we knew also all the newcomers. It does not take long to get acquainted at Blakeslee. It has always seemed to me like one big family party, with Joe fathering everybody and Mrs. Joe playing the little mother.

I am ashamed to tell you about that dinner, the trout and other good things we put under our belts, and when it seemed impossible to eat another mouthful, to have put in front of you the most delicious raspberry shortcake, of which Mrs. Joe is so famous, with a mountain of whipped cream on top of it. No wonder hubby exclaimed, "I can still chew, but honestly I can't swallow any more." We took a long rest after dinner. We had tramped eight miles that forenoon and Joe's beds felt better than ever. We tramp around every summer from one camp to another and I have always longed more for Joe's beds than all the other good things he offers, excepting of course the fly fishing.

About four o'clock we went out on the pond and had the same good luck we always have. I think Blakeslee is one of the most remarkable ponds in the state of Maine. We fish in many ponds and lakes and have had just as good luck occasionally, but there is no other lake, where one can be always sure of success, as we can at Blakeslee.

This is my husband's 10th trip and my 5th and we have always found it so. The last 30 minutes before dark are always so exciting. I think of nothing but the sport, and am only brought back to realization of other things when the canoe touches the wharf and the guide helps me out. It was quite dark when we got back to camp and the big camp fire was burning briskly in the camp yard and most of the guests had already assembled around it, lounging in comfortable easy chairs, discussing the fortunes of the sport of the day; and I tell you we were not afraid to show our string of fish, and how handsome they looked there, spread out in the glow of the camp fire, with their beautiful coloring, not one less than a pound and to think that in the morning they would be split open along the back bone from the inside and laid open on a hot gridle and broiled to golden brown; it made me hungry to look at them, so we went in to our late supper.

In the meantime some one started up the graphophone and soon we were all sitting around the big fire, enjoying the music. As the fire died down we had some marshmallows and pop corn and listened to Joe telling his famous yarns of the backwoods.

It is a great treat to be entertained at Blakeslee and we surely hope to be there again. Mrs. W.

PARTIES ARRIVE AT MOUNTAIN VIEW

Mooselookmeguntic House Officially Opens Saturday--Busy all Along the Line.

(Special to Maine Woods).

Mountainview, Me., May 5—The season of 1913 has come on with a rush. The ice left Rangeley Lake Sunday and is fast disappearing in the Mooselookmeguntic and Cup-suptic. The weather held cold so late then turning warm suddenly has taken the ice out before the repair work could possibly be finished before guests began to arrive for spring fishing.

At Mountain View the annex and main house is cleaned and the camps will be put in readiness this week. The large dining room has been thoroughly renovated, the paper hanger working all night Friday finishing Saturday for the accommodation of the guests while the dining room was being repaired. Several of the rooms have been newly carpeted. The two rooms at the rear of the large parlor are to be made into one room to be used as a sitting and reading room for ladies. Competent help is being secured. Florence Nimo, the pastry cook came May first and the chef Saturday night.

The first party for the season, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Judd of Bristol, Conn., arrived Friday night. Mr. Judd was also the first guest last season and made some excellent catches which he hopes to duplicate this year, with the same guide as last year. Bert Herrick, M. B. Damon of Fitchburg, Mass., and F. J. Pierce of Gardner, Mass., also old parties at Mountain View, arrived Saturday night and were met by their former guides Al Sprague for Mr. Damon and Frank Harris for Mr. Pierce.

The Butler party of Gardner, who it will be remembered spent sometime here last fall will arrive Wednesday. A number of other parties are booked for the early fishing and will arrive soon.

Mrs. Burns reports all cleaning, repair work, etc., will be finished and the house officially opened next Saturday, May tenth and a party from Granite, Mass., is expected on that date.

The Barker opens as soon as the ice goes out and parties are booked for May sixth. The Birches will not be opened until June. The Captain will be ready as usual to greet his guests.

The chef, his wife and three other help arrived by way of Oquossoc for Grants' Camps, Kennebago, Friday night.

Things are also in readiness at Pleasant Island for the early fishing.

Herbert Welch, taxidermist at the Landing, is getting out his display of souvenirs, fishing tackle and sporting goods in readiness for the business of Walter Hinds, which he purchased last winter. It makes an excellent display not only of the above mentioned goods but his collection of mounted fish, animals and birds form an excellent natural history study for all who visit his establishment this season.

Another place that has been repaired and renovated which seems worthy of note is the Oquossoc railway station which has received a new coat of paint inside and out. The seats have also been newly varnished.

The Mountain View laundry will be open for business by Monday May 12 and sooner if possible.

Archie Perham, former proprietor of Mingo Spring House, has accepted a position with the Ricker Hotel company at Poland Springs. He will clerk in the new hotel just completed and will leave for his work sometime this week.

Charles Kipp and "Uncle" Nick Oglebee painted the boats at Scott's camps, Quimby pond, last week.

Mr. Templeton, the new warden, is visiting his family in Machias, Me.

The paint and repair work at Lake View Point is completed and Dr. Fowler is expected to arrive soon.

Anson Hayford is painting his house at Oquossoc.

The first Pullman car will be put on May 12. The train service for the rest of May and until June 23 will be the same as last summer, except that the freight which meets the noon train at Bemis will run through to Kennebago. The final change of time for the summer will be June 23. After that date the night train will run through to Kennebago lake and all the trainmen now making their home in Oquossoc will be obliged to stop at Kennebago lake.

Miss Ella Black has finished work at Mountain View and will take a short vacation before going to work at the Birches.

J. FRED O'CONNELL GETS APPOINTMENT.

J. Fred O'Connell, of Milford, has been appointed sheriff of Penobscot county and will begin his duties on May 8.

The new sheriff is thirty-eight, unmarried, and has long been prominent in the affairs of Milford, where he has been a member of the selectmen and assessors, and of the school board. He has for eleven years, also, been a member of the Republican town committee, six of them as chairman. His business, in which he has been successful, is insurance and real estate.

In the present legislature Mr. O'Connell's work attracted widespread attention, and may easily be termed brilliant. He led the fight for Bishop Walsh against the dissolution of the present corporation sole, making two brilliant speeches; and the bill was lost in the house, 126 to six. It was largely through his efforts that the house voted, 98 to 26, to pass the 500 mile mileage bill over the governor's veto; and he was actively interested in all legislation affecting the welfare of this section.

It was his efforts on behalf of the Old Town-Milford bridge bill which first brought him into prominence. He introduced the bill, which carried an appropriation of $96,400 and the committee reported against it, unanimously. This would have phased most legislators, but not Mr. O'Connell. He fought for it all winter, and the house ended by passing it overwhelmingly, rejecting the committee report.

Mr. O'Connell voted for the removal of Sheriff Moulton, but against the removal of Sheriffs Emerson and Ballou. He has hundreds of friends and he will take office amid any number of good wishes.—Bangor News.

Many friends of Mr. O'Connell in Phillips and vicinity are glad to hear of his success.

COUNTRY CLUB BURNS.

Recently the handsomely appointed and thoroughly modern house of the Country club at South Portland was burned to the ground. It was a great social center and golf and tennis had its local headquarters there. It cost $16,000, but could not be replaced for that money and in addition it was handsomely furnished.
